You are a decision away from transformation.

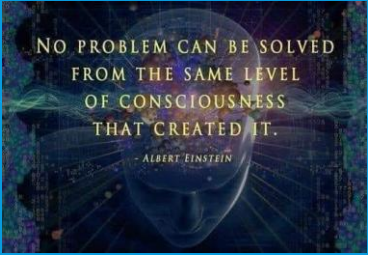

Transformation in two ways for country or individual:

1. When life is comfortable, transform.
2. Or else life will transform you by giving shock.

You just have to say, I don't care how I lived up to now, from here, this is how I am going to live.

REFLECTIONS!

Module 1: Communication Skills

Content:

- Importance of Communication in Professional Life
- Verbal and Non-Verbal Communication
- Active Listening
- Principles of Effective Communication

COMMUNICATION - MEANING

- Communication is a dynamic process...
- through this process we convey a thought or feeling to someone else.
- how it is received depends on a set of events, stimuli, that person is exposed to.
- how you say, what you say, - plays an important role in communication.

COMMUNICATION COMPONENTS

Component	Percentage
Listening	45%
Speaking	30%
Reading	16%
Writing	9%

What is the purpose of communication?

The diagram illustrates the communication process between two individuals. On the left, a person's head shows 'Encoding' and 'Interpretation' processes. A 'Message' is sent to the right, where 'Decoding' and 'Interpretation' occur. A 'Feedback Message' is sent back to the first person. Below this, a communication model shows a 'Source' and 'Receiver' connected by 'CHANNELS?'. The process is influenced by 'Context' and 'Environment', and can be hindered by 'INTERFERENCE?'. Arrows indicate the flow of 'Message/Feedback' between the Source and Receiver.

The Success Habits Academy

TIME

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- It is irreplaceable and irreversible.
- Time is Money - Yes, it can be invested and valued.
- To save time we must spend some time.
- If we fail to plan, then we plan to fail.

INVESTING VS WASTING TIME

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

WASTING TIME

- ✓ Making excuses
- ✓ Watching TV
- ✓ Too much video games
- ✓ Too much social media
- ✓ Comparing yourself
- ✓ Complaining
- ✓ Partying
- ✓ Gambling
- ✓ Procrastinating
- ✓ Feeling sorry for yourself
- ✓ Overspending
- ✓ Hanging with losers

INVESTING TIME

- ✓ Learning new skills
- ✓ Building a side hustle
- ✓ Reading books
- ✓ Listening to podcasts
- ✓ Going to the gym
- ✓ Watching courses
- ✓ Meditation
- ✓ Organizing your finances
- ✓ Watching educational videos
- ✓ Learning how to invest money
- ✓ Planning your time
- ✓ Networking

Module 4: Time Management & Team Development – Scheduling

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

DEVELOPING PRIORITIES - CREATING WORKING SCHEDULE

- A schedule will only work if we utilize it.
- Simply committing a list of activities to paper will not suddenly create a situation in which we can manage your time better.
- Keep the schedule in a prominent location where we can see it daily and refer to several times throughout the day.

Module 4: Time Management & Team Development – Scheduling

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

DEVELOPING PRIORITIES - CREATING WORKING SCHEDULE

- Always allow room for flexibility .
- Some things are just inevitably going to occur that we have no control over;
- While we can't plan for those precise circumstances, we can leave enough room in the schedule to adjust the plans for unexpected events.

Module 4: Time Management & Team Development – Prioritization

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

The Urgent/Important Matrix

Urgent and Important

Important, But Not Urgent

Urgent, But Not Important

Not Urgent and Not Important

Module 4: Time Management & Team Development – Prioritization

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

Understanding the Matrix:

- Urgent & Important (Do First): Tasks that need immediate attention and contribute significantly to long-term goals.
- Not Urgent & Important (Schedule): Tasks that contribute to long-term goals but don't have an immediate deadline.
- Urgent & Not Important (Delegate): Tasks that require immediate attention but don't directly contribute to long-term goals (consider if they can be delegated).
- Not Urgent & Not Important (Eliminate/Limit): Tasks that don't require immediate attention and don't contribute to long-term goals.

Module 4: Time Management & Team Development – Prioritization

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

Task	Urgent	Important	Category	Notes
Attending Scheduled Lectures/Labs	Yes	Yes	Urgent & Important	Core academic requirement.
Completing Assignments with Near Deadlines	Yes	Yes	Urgent & Important	Impacts grades and understanding.
Preparing for Upcoming Exams/Quizzes	Yes (if near)	Yes	Urgent & Important (if near)	Crucial for academic performance. Urgency depends on proximity to the exam.
Working on Thesis/Dissertation Research	Yes (if near deadline)	Yes	Urgent & Important (if near deadline)	Significant project for the degree. Urgency increases as deadlines approach.
Meeting with Thesis Advisor	Yes (if scheduled)	Yes	Urgent & Important (if scheduled)	Important for guidance and progress on thesis. Urgency depends on the scheduled time.
Studying Core Concepts	No	Yes	Not Urgent & Important	Builds a strong foundation and aids in long-term understanding.
Reading Research Papers	No	Yes	Not Urgent & Important	Essential for staying updated and informing thesis work.

Module 4: Time Management & Team Development – Prioritization

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

Task	Urgent	Important	Category	Notes
Networking Events (Online/Offline)	No	Yes	Not Urgent & Important	Builds professional connections for future career prospects.
Skill Development Workshops/Webinars	No	Yes	Not Urgent & Important	Enhances skills relevant to their field. Urgency might arise if registration deadlines are near.
Checking Social Media/Personal Browsing	No	No	Not Urgent & Not Important	Can be a distraction if not managed.
Responding to Non-Academic Emails/Messages	Yes (sometimes)	No (often)	Urgent & Not Important (often)	Depends on the sender and content. Prioritize academic and important communications.
Commuting to College/Library	Yes (if scheduled)	Yes	Urgent & Important (if scheduled)	Necessary to attend classes and access resources. Urgency depends on the schedule.
Eating Meals	Yes	Yes	Urgent & Important	Essential for physical and mental well-being.
Sleeping	Yes	Yes	Urgent & Important	Crucial for cognitive function and overall health.

Module 4: Time Management & Team Development – Prioritization

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

Task	Urgent	Important	Category	Notes
Exercise/Physical Activity	No	Yes	Not Urgent & Important	Important for stress management and long-term health.
Helping a Friend with an Urgent Task (Not Related to Studies)	Yes	No (usually)	Urgent & Not Important (usually)	Consider if you can delegate or politely decline if it significantly impacts your important tasks.
Attending Social Gatherings/Events	No	No (often)	Not Urgent & Not Important (often)	Can be important for well-being but needs to be balanced with academic priorities. Urgency depends on the event.
Minor Administrative Tasks (e.g., printing)	Yes (if needed urgently)	No (usually)	Urgent & Not Important (often)	Can often be quick but needs to be done if it's blocking progress on something important.

Module 4: Time Management & Team Development – Time Management Techniques

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

How an M.Tech Student Can Use This:

1. Prioritize Daily: At the start of each day, identify tasks that fall into the "Urgent & Important" quadrant and tackle them first.

2. Schedule Time: Allocate specific time slots in their week for "Not Urgent & Important" tasks like studying, research, and networking. Treat these appointments seriously.

Module 4: Time Management & Team Development – Time Management Techniques

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

How an M.Tech Student Can Use This:

3. Minimize Interruptions: Be mindful of "Urgent & Not Important" tasks and try to handle them efficiently or delegate if possible. Avoid letting them derail progress on important work.

4. Reduce Time Wasted: Be conscious of "Not Urgent & Not Important" activities and limit the time spent on them to maintain focus and productivity.

Conflict resolution within teams

- Conflict within a team is natural.
- It can arise from differing opinions, goals, communication styles, or even personality clashes.
- The key is to manage conflict constructively, transforming it from a destructive force into an opportunity for growth and improved collaboration.

Module 5: Decision Making & Conflict Management

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

– Conflict resolution within teams

Scenario: Resource Allocation Conflict

In a team working on a collaborative project, two members, Aisha and Rohan, are responsible for different sections of the work. During a progress meeting, Aisha expresses frustration, claiming that Rohan is using most of the shared resources (such as data analysts or design tools), leaving her unable to meet her deadlines.

Rohan counters by stating that his part of the project is more resource-intensive and crucial to the overall delivery, implying that his needs take priority.

Other team members start taking sides, and the meeting atmosphere grows tense.

Definition of EI:
“A set of emotional and social skills, that influence the way we –

- perceive and express ourselves,
- develop and maintain social relationships,
- cope with challenges,
- and use emotional information in an effective and meaningful way.”

Misconceptions

- EI means “being nice” and goody—goody
- Not expressing, bottle up or allowing free rein to your feelings
- EI is in-born capability
- Being emotional is a weakness

Capgemini RESEARCH INSTITUTE

SIX FOLD

A 'must-have' skill of the future

A global study by Capgemini Research Institute says emotional intelligence will become a must-have skill in the next one to five years. Specifically, the demand for emotional intelligence (EI) skills will see a six-fold increase, in response to the power of artificial intelligence and automation.

Titled "Emotional Intelligence – the essential skillset for the age of AI", the report states that with the prevalence of automation and AI, Indian executives believe that EI skill will surge to address emerging job roles.

The demand for EI skills in India will increase 6-8 times in the next three to five years, the highest amongst all countries, says the report. Demand for EI will be high across sectors, especially financial services.

Other highlights of the India report are: More than 60% of organisations test for EI skills while assessing and hiring employees at senior management level; a larger share of organisations consider EI skills while assessing and hiring non-supervisory employees; a large share of employees are willing to improve their EI skills as long as it is a part of the performance management system; and share of organisations conducting EI training for employees at mid-management level is double in comparison to global average.

TAKE CARE

- 1. Your Entrance
- 2. Body Language
- 3. Your Voice
- 4. Answering Questions: Aaaa...

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

FOR TO MANY JOB SEEKERS, "STRESS" IS SYNONYMOUS WITH "JOB INTERVIEW."

- During the interview. This is the stress that can make you freeze, panic, chatter aimlessly, lose your train of thought or perspire profusely.
- A ten-minute, pre-interview break will give you an opportunity to catch your breath and acclimate to your surroundings. It's enough time, but not too much time.

HOW TO RELAX !!!

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- You create a mental image of a stressful or challenging situation. Then you imagine yourself succeeding in the situation.
- You can practice visualization in the days, hours or even minutes before an interview. Simply close your eyes and breathe deeply. Picture yourself greeting the interviewer confidently and answering tough questions with ease.

HOW TO RELAX !!!

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- In every interview, there comes a moment that doesn't go according to plan. There's an awkward silence. You stumble over your words. You flub a tough question.
- Don't panic. Now's the time to put your relaxation skills into overdrive.
- Breathing deeply and slowly (and quietly, of course).
- Sit up straight and don't cross your legs or arms.
- Speak slowly and pause for breath often.
- Keeps your hands and jaw relaxed; no clenching.
- Smile -- it really is contagious!

YOUR APPEARANCE

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- 95% of employers said that a candidate's personal appearance influenced their opinion of the candidate's suitability for the job.
- 91% said they believed dress and grooming reflected the applicant's attitude towards the organization.
- 61% said that dress and grooming had an effect on subsequent promotions.

Your appearance can also affect how you feel about yourself.

Knowing that you look your best can give you added confidence in yourself, which can be essential in making a good first impression.

Appearance Tips for Boys

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- Wear a well ironed shirt in a sober color.
- Wear dark shoes (polished) and dark socks.
- Wear a long sleeve shirt.
- Ensure that fingernails are clean and neatly trimmed.
- Be clean-shaven.
- Avoid using aftershave, or use sparingly.
- Limit the use of jewelry.
- Ensure that hair is clean and styled neatly.

Tips for Girls

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- Wear a Salwar Suit in a sober colour.
- Wear shoes (polished) with conservative heels.
- Keep make-up fresh and natural.
- Avoid using a flashy handbag.
- Limit jewelry to one or two rings and one set of (discreet) earrings.
- Ensure that fingernails are clean and neat.
- Avoid wearing eye-catching nail varnish; keep colours subtle and unobtrusive.
- Ensure that hair is clean and styled neatly.
- Avoid using perfume, or use sparingly.

POINTS TO REMEMBER

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- Only respond to questions, never ever ask questions. When you're asked the question "Do you have any questions?" the best answer is to say: "You already responded to all my answers".
- Never tell the person interviewing you, either directly or indirectly, that he/she is wrong.
- The longer the interview goes; the more likely you are getting the job. Remain calm.

POINTS TO REMEMBER FOR SALARY

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- In case you're afraid to give a figure, then all you can answer is: "I'm sure you're going to give me a fair salary according to my qualifications." At this point an offer might be made, which might be below or above your expectations.
- If it's way below, then be honest about it, just say, with a nice smile and in a very polite way, "I was expecting more".

POINTS TO REMEMBER

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- Send a "Thank You" email the same day.
- It should be no more than 3 lines thanking the person for his time during the interview and reiterating why you think you will add more value to the company.

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

• Avoid Strong Expressions

• Negative Signs:

1. Hand behind the head:
2. Palm-down gestures:
3. Tilting heads:
4. Laughter:

PERCEPTION IS KEY

The Mind Academy
@drvipulvyas

- "When your interviewer asks you a complicated question, don't launch into your answer straightaway.
- Make certain you understand what is being asked. A clarifying question, or restating the question in your own words saves you from wasting your interviewer's time, and demonstrates that you are a careful listener.
- Asking the right questions can also demonstrate your ability to think strategically, and help you decide if the position is right for you.

After you have gone through the list shown above, consider the following questions:

1. What are the strong points of your personality and character?
2. Which of these elements has helped you to succeed in your career?
3. Be as specific as possible when answering these questions, and include descriptions of exactly how you use your strengths and

YOUR WEAKNESSES

The Mind Academy
@drvipulyas

- Candidates are very often asked to talk about their weaknesses during a job interview.
- Try to view these as 'limitations' rather than weaknesses, and think of a positive way to present them.
- For example, a perfectionist is really someone that strives for excellence.
- Weaknesses may also be seen as areas for improvement; take some time to think about the situations that limit you and frustrate you at work.
- What characteristics do you think may have held you back in your career?
- What could you do to change them?

TYPES OF QUESTIONS

The Mind Academy
@drvipulyas

Closed Questions

- Questions requiring a simple "Yes" or "No" answer ...

Open Questions

- What, where, when, which, why and how ...

Probing Questions

- Questions used to draw out more information about you ...

Hypothetical Questions

- These questions are used to test your knowledge, experience and your ability to think on your feet ...

Leading Questions

- Be wary of this style of question, it's not always in your best interests to answer them in the way that you are being led ...

Tricky Questions

- Don't let tough interview questions take you by surprise ...

Multiple Questions

- Questions containing two or more elements ...

Negative Questions

- Giving a positive answer to a negative question ...

FOUR WORDS TO BOOST YOUR CAREER:

The Mind Academy
@drvipulyas

THANK YOU VERY MUCH

"Thank you very much" are words that everyone likes to hear.

1. State what you liked about the interview,
2. Emphasize briefly and specifically your suitability for the job.
3. Mention any issue that you didn't have the opportunity to discuss..

Power of Two Choices

The Mind Academy
@drvipulyas

Life is all about choices.

When you cut away all the junk every situation is a choice.

You choose how you react to situations.

You choose how people will affect your mood.

You choose to be in a good mood or bad mood.

It's your choice how you live your life.
